(A letter to Mr EA Durbank of Solsgirth, implies Alex sold out in 1903. A dispute had arisen over this chap's land in 1880 when a Thos Love claimed Alex was a merchant in Portage la Prairie & that he (Thos) had built a house & done much work on the s½ in Sept'79 as a member of the Hamilton Colonization Co. Says Alex & a 'friend' claim it but that they had only worked on the n½ in Oct'79. Alex claimed he had lived there since '81 & appears to keep his claim after 2 other settlers vouch for his claim; James/B Cartmell (15-17-26) & Sherriffs Adams (9-17-26). Alex put the se pt in Fred's name by '90. (what happened to it?)

 After this sister d., a storekpr stole her body. People suspected him & looked in bldg, below Vankleek, where he kept grain, & which he indended to ship to Montreal that nite. They found the body in the grain & put her back in the coffin. As you can guess a real crowd attended the 2nd funeral. Flora's dad was one of those who found her. She forgot the man's name but he was tried & acquitted because he had not taken any of the clothes & the body didn't belong to anyone. A young lawyer from Alexandria defended him. After it was over, some of her friends tarred & feathered him & ran him out of town.

 "Annals of Megantic Co" by Dugald McKillop p.74 NLC.
 A Dunc McGillivray, a well known cattle dlr met with foul play near Inverness Corners on his return from a winter in the logging camps on the Ottawa region. Finding the going tough (maybe due to flooding, etc, he asked a farmer if he could stay for a few days. When told he was welcome he helped the man clear his lands. Dunc must have let it slip that he had considerable cash because one day the man struck him on the back of the head with a hand-spike. He then thru the body on a pile of burning logs. For long yrs the fate of Dunc was a mystery until the man confessed on his death bed.

statement & a postcard.

Grd-dau Beatrice MacG* remembers her grd-mom Martha Jane (Williams) Mac Gillivray as an old lady always dressed in black & living on VanWagners Beach (near the schoolhouse). Bea said Martha sold sand from the property to make a living. Uncle Julius Jensen may remember Dunc MacG* welcoming son visiting from Ohio. This was probably his father-in-law (Thomas SO Dunc) welcoming his brother.

Mary MacG* said her grd-dad was a sailor; maybe from Glasgow, Scot.
He wasn't around when grd-dau Beatrice was sent to live with his wife Martha in her home on (lot 28, east side of where Nash Rd hits the beach) Vanwagner's Beach c1925. (see etc/saltfleet for map)

Said to be an engineer. He told of working on the railroads in US where they had to watch out for rattle snakes on the rails each morning. Also worked for some time at Hamilton Street Railway & later part-time for E D Smith's in Grimsby in his retirement. He never drove a car. Quiet, gruff speaking man, always took grd-kids down to corner store for candy when they came to visit. Grd-dau Jean does not remember him ever taking alcoholic drinks although he smoked a pipe incessantly but had to sit outside on the veranda to do so. As a result he spent most of his time outside on the back veranda or in the kitchen. Jean never remembers him sitting in the living room just the kitchen. His dau

Mary cleaned out house after her mom's death. There were some old photographs that hung in Tom's room which she may have kept. Lived with dau Mary in his last years at 27 Glassco Ave in E Hamilton. Grd-dau Jean was told he was member of the Dundas Reg't in early 1900's. Jean Noseworthy spent quite a bit of time with her grd-mom Wilhelmina & Tom at their home on Kensington Ave while she was growing up. She told Jean her father/grdfather was a Presby Min. The Indians loved her red hair & they had to watch that she wasn't kidnapped, bro John helped the negroes (not possible because of his age) sister Theresa was a nurse in Los Angeles. Wilhelmina said she worked for Dr Downs? when she 1st came to Hamilton. Owners of a store in uptown Hamilton were cousins (Richard's?), & cousins or something were owners of a hospital near Boston. Some of Tom's family lived in Ohio. Jean remembers hearing about a cousin Tressa Eleanor Downs. Wilhelmina said Jean's 2nd name was the same as her's and her sister's..
